- 4.0 2015 Report on Poverty in Illinois 10:05 a.m.
Jennifer Clary, IMPACT
Through over 10 years of producing the annual Report on Illinois Poverty, IMPACT has become the established source for data on poverty issues. Their work successfully resonates with elected officials as well as non-experts due to their effective way of communicating otherwise complex and confusing data. Visit the report on poverty website to read “Poor by Comparison: Report on Illinois Poverty,” which ranks Illinois in comparison to other states on over 25 metrics associated with poverty and hardship, as well as key policy and budgetary realities that impact people who are poor.
ACTION REQUESTED: Discussion
- 5.0 Brookfield Zoo Social Innovation initiative 10:35 a.m.
Matthew Mayer, Senior VP of Social Innovation & Sustainability
In 2015, Brookfield Zoo became the first major cultural organization in North America to launch a Social Innovation initiative to better leverage its resources and partnerships to drive sustainable, highly-measurable investments in vulnerable populations. Through Social Innovation, the zoo will be focusing on outcomes that help: advance economic and social mobility in under-served communities; empower individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities; and enrich the lives of those affected by domestic violence in scalable, sustainable, and mission-centric ways.

6.0 Overview of National Center for Mobility Management

Judy L. Shanley, Ph.D.

11:05 a.m.

The National Center for Mobility Management (NCMM) is an initiative of the United We Ride program, and is supported through a cooperative agreement with the Federal Transit Administration.

NCMM has launched its Healthcare Access Mobility Design Challenge, seeking eight community-based teams to design innovative solutions to healthcare-related transportation challenges.

Applications are due March 27, 2015.
